

New Districts Cause Mixups For Candidates

LANSING (AP) — The new edge that the worst that can happen in Michigan's apportionment problems usually does, was borne out again today.

The latest twist in the complications surrounding redistricting appears to put the pinch on state legislators planning to move out of their new districts to avoid running against an incumbent or in unfamiliar territory.

The new Michigan Constitution says that a lawmaker who moves out of his district is to be regarded as having vacated his office.

The new districts are the result of an apportionment plan approved by the Michigan Supreme Court and published by the Legislative Apportionment Commission last week.

Deadline July 21
State Elections Director Robert Montgomery told lawmakers they must be residents of the district in which they file nominating petitions or pay filing fees before the July 21 deadline.

This would make them qualified electors of the district in time for the Sept. 1 primary, fulfilling another constitutional requirement—that they be qualified electors.

A qualified elector is a United States citizen, a resident of the state for six months and of the district for 30 days.

One Detroit House member started asking around the capitol for legal advice this week—and got conflicting off-the-cuff opinions.

"I don't know how you can hide the language of the Constitution under the rug," said Assistant Atty. Gen. Stanton Faville. The opinion was informal, Faville said, adding that he has not yet researched the law fully in this regard.

"The legislature is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members," said Montgomery.

No Room To Move
Most moving legislators have changed new districts—but have remained within the boundaries of the old ones and met with no problems.

But in the Detroit House districts, the representatives have less room to move around. There, the old districts were long and narrow. The new ones are more square and more nearly compact.

Despite the edict in the Constitution, Montgomery points out another section which says: "Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members."

Too much moving could cause problems for Gov. George W. Romney, if he should decide to call a special session of the Legislature. He could conceivably be compelled to call a special election, since another section of the Constitution says the governor "shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies in the Senate or House of Representatives."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater fears the presidential campaign could build into a civil rights explosion—perhaps triggered by fringe elements in his own following.

Rep. Ford May Get No. 2 Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The name of Michigan Rep. Gerald R. Ford has turned up anew as a potential partner for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater on the Republican presidential ticket.

GOP sources confirmed Thursday earlier speculation that the 50-year-old Congressman is one of the Republicans Goldwater is considering as a possible vice presidential running mate should Goldwater win the presidential nomination.

The possibility of Ford winding up in the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket is not a new experience for the Grand Rapids lawmaker.

In 1960, the Michigan delegation to the Republican convention started a movement to get Ford on the ticket, but then—UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge got the nod instead.

Ford gained a nationally spotlighted appearance at the convention rostrum by seconding the nomination of Lodge.

Ford currently is chairman of the House GOP caucus and is a member of the Warren Commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In addition to Ford, Goldwater reportedly is considering Rep. William E. Miller of New York as a possible running mate. Miller is the retiring Republican national committee chairman.

Mahalia Married

CHICAGO (AP) — Gospel singer Mahalia Jackson, 50, was married Thursday in Chicago to Minters Sigmund Gallo-way, 47, a contracting firm salesman. It was the second marriage for both.

Miss Jackson, a Negro who often opens civil rights rallies with her spirituals, said the fact that she was married on the day Congress passed the civil rights law "gave me a wonderful feeling."

Auto Workers Want Share In Big Earnings

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's top automakers, enjoying record profits, pondered demands by the United Auto Workers Union today that some 550,000 workers be given a share of the earnings.

Negotiations between the UAW and the Big Three of the auto industry—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—were recessed Thursday for the Independence Day weekend.

Talks will resume at Chrysler Monday, with GM and Ford returning to the bargaining table Tuesday. Negotiations at American Motors open Wednesday.

In appearances before the Big Three at opening day discussions this week, UAW President Walter P. Reuther contended that the workers are entitled to what he termed a "fair share of and greater equity in" the industry's earnings.

Although this would include an increase in the wage structure, Reuther made it clear that the companies are expected to pour more money into such benefits as pensions, liberalized vacations and early retirement programs.

Other union demands that would cost the auto firms money include proposals for improved working conditions, such as increased relief periods for workers on the assembly lines.

Reuther said he is concerned about maintaining the dignity of the workers and not allowing the machines to become their masters.

As a solution, he suggested that there be gaps in the assembly line to afford workers a brief respite from monotonous chores.

Freak Storms Hit Downstate

By The Associated Press
A pair of freak storms, accompanied by high winds and hail, battered a section of Ann Arbor and an area near Alpena Thursday. No injuries were reported.

State police said a thunderstorm 20 miles west of Alpena left 2½ inches of hail near Lachine. A plane was reported damaged and two mobile homes were blown over by strong winds, police said. Some barns also were damaged.

A violent thunderstorm, swept along by 60 to 70 mile per hour winds, lasted 20 minutes at Ann Arbor.

Police said two home owners reported seeing a funnel cloud.

The storm blew roofs off two homes under construction on the southwest side, and knocked over walls at an unfinished addition to an appliance shop, police said. A number of trees and power lines were downed.

The Detroit Weather Bureau said the storms were caused by a cold front moving from northern Michigan into the sweltering southern half of the state.

Workers Out For Goldwater

LANSING (AP)—If Sen. Barry Goldwater started a ball rolling in his conference this week with the Michigan delegation to the Republican convention, his backers in the delegation are out today to keep it going and growing.

Delegates backing the senator's bid for the GOP nomination for president are contacting other delegates they know to be sympathetic in an attempt to win first ballot votes, said Richard Durant, a delegate from Wayne County's 14th District and a Goldwater supporter.

"Some of us are calling and making personal contacts," Durant said. "We're sure of 11 first ballot votes, and if this total goes any way it will go up not down."

Goldwater spent an hour and a half explaining his views to the 48-vote, officially uncommitted delegation.

Goldwater backers claimed new support after the meeting, and others increased their estimates of his strength in the Michigan group. Gov. George W. Romney, who previously conceded only three or four first-ballot votes for the senator, increased his estimate to six to eight hard-core backers and 15 to 20 who were favorably disposed toward his bid.

New Civil Rights Law Put To Immediate Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights bill is the law of the land today and civil rights groups immediately began testing whether its sweeping provisions against discrimination can break generations of racial barriers in North and South.

Three hours after the House sent the legislation to the White House Thursday, President Johnson signed it with an appeal to all Americans to "join this effort to bring justice and hope to all our people."

From the South came indications the new law's constitutionality will be quickly challenged. Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson cautioned that he expects "some real trouble" when Negroes seek to desegregate public accommodations in that state.

Voluntary Compliance First
Hardly was the President's signature dry before civil rights organizations announced plans to see if the law opens to Negroes the doors of motels, restaurants, theaters that had been closed to them.

"Be ready to make a start—even though a modest one—by July 4th" declared instructions to Southern chapters of the Congress of Racial Equality for probing racial policies in places of public accommodations.

In his address on signing the bill, broadcast by radio and television, the President stressed that the law first relies on voluntary compliance to achieve its goal of striking down racial barriers in employment, schools, voting, public accommodations and federally aided programs.

The White House ceremony attended by civil rights leaders and the Republican and Democratic leaders who steered the bill on its long, stormy passage through Congress—climaxed more than a year of effort begun by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Even as the President spoke, Gov. Johnson was suggesting that Mississippi operators of public accommodations should defy the law so its constitutionality can be tested.

Asked at a news conference whether he thought restaurant and hotel owners and the like should comply with the new law, the governor said, "I don't think they should. I think it should be tested in the courts. A great many people feel it is unconstitutional."

In other parts of the South, however, businessmen and community leaders expressed a willingness to go along with the new law, even if they don't like it.

The President announced he is nominating Leroy Collins, former governor of Florida, to direct the community relations service established by the law and that he is appointing an advisory committee to assist him.

Collins is stepping out as president of the National Association of Broadcasters to take the post. The final act in the congressional civil rights drama came only three hours earlier when the House voted, 289 to 126, to accept the Senate's amendments.

Spectators packed in the gal-eries, some even sitting on the stairs, clapped and cheered speakers on both sides, in violation of the House rules. But with the members busily clapping and cheering their own spokesmen, no effort was made to quiet the crowd.

THREE VOTE NO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Michigan Republicans voted against the civil rights bill when it was passed by the House by 289 to 126 vote Thursday.

They are Reps. August Johansen, Victor Knox and George Meader.

Seven Michigan Republicans and as many Democrats voted in favor of the bill.

Republicans for: Broomfield, Cederberg, Chamberlain, Ford, Griffin, Harvey and Hutchinson. Democrats for: Diggs, Dingell, Griffiths, Nedzi, O'Hara, Ryan and Staebler.

STATE FAR AHEAD

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney has called upon the framers of the 1964 Republican platform to endorse the civil rights bill passed by Congress and signed into law by President Johnson Thursday.

The new law, Romney said, "is in the tradition of Lincoln and the Republican Party, was supported by a majority of Republican members in both houses of Congress and is in line with the civil rights plank in the 1960 Republican platform."

The law, however, cannot solve the entire problem alone, Romney said. State and local governments must take action, "and the ultimate solution will come from the hearts and minds of men," he said, adding:

"I hope the 1964 Republican platform will endorse the bill, recognize its constitutional basis, pledge complete effort at uniform enforcement, and urge state and local governments, as well as voluntary groups and individuals, to follow through with appropriate actions."

Michigan, the governor added, "is far ahead of the new federal law." Most of its provisions have been on Michigan books for years, "and our new state constitution goes well beyond the federal law," he said.

Pay Raise Sure For 1.7 Million In Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1.7 million government workers—plus federal judges and members of Congress—are sure of a pay boost now.

The Senate late Thursday removed whatever doubts may have lingered by passing 58 to 21 a $564-million pay-hike bill that is somewhat more liberal than the $533-million measure which cleared the House on June 11. But it jabbed at the Supreme Court by cutting the justices' proposed increase by two-thirds.

Sponsors hope to work out a final version soon after Congress returns July 20 from its recess for the Republican National Convention.

Members of Congress are assured of a $7,500 increase, from the present $22,500 to $30,000, since both versions agree on that.

The Senate defeated all efforts to reduce, eliminate, or defer the hike until the federal budget is balanced.

The Senate bill would boost Cabinet officers $10,000 to $35,000, and allow increases of $7,000 or more for 367 other government executives. The House had voted a $32,500 salary for the 10 Cabinet members.

The drive to hold increases for Supreme Court justices to $2,500 instead of the $7,500 voted by the House and recommended by the administration was led by Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo. He argued that their pay is "out of all proportion" to what Congress members receive.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., countered that this is "hardly the time to downgrade the Supreme Court."

But Allott drew the support of the Senate's Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, and the Southerners, and triumphed 46 to 40.

The chief justice now receives $35,500 a year and other justices $35,000.

The 600,000 postal employees would get increases averaging 5.6 per cent.

Johnsons Fly To Texas Ranch

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—The master of the LBJ Ranch plans little more than to relax and inspect his acres and livestock today.

After signing the civil rights bill with a plea to Americans to "close the springs of racial hate," President Johnson flew from Washington to his Texas home.

He had no fixed schedule for his stay, but aides said he planned to keep tabs on domestic and international affairs by telephone to key advisers in Washington.

The length of the President's visit to his ranch has not been announced, but he is expected to be back in the White House by early next week.

Mrs. Johnson and daughter, Lynda Bird, 20, accompanied the President to Texas. Luci Baines, who turned 17 Thursday, remained in Washington.

As he did on his vote-wooing, fund-raising trip to Michigan and Minnesota last weekend, Johnson used a 16-seat Jetstar for his trip from Washington instead of the big presidential jet transport.

Revenue Agents Stage 'Robbery'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "They are robbing me," a service station man telephoned police urgently.

The dispatcher taking the call asked "with a knife or gun?" "They're pushing me against the wall. They're taking all of my money," the man shrieked.

Natural Gas Offered Esky In 1965 Project

DETROIT — Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. today announced it would bring natural gas service next year to the central part of Michigan's Upper Peninsula in the area between Escanaba and Iron River.

The company announced that it has signed a contract with Hanna Mining Co. for the sale of 1½ billion cubic feet of gas annually to the Hanna Company's Groveland iron ore pelletizing plant near Randville in Dickinson County.

Hanna will pay the same rates paid by industrial users of gas in other parts of Michigan.

The pelletizing plant, which prepares iron ore for shipment and use in blast furnaces will be served by a pipeline running north from Menominee to be constructed by Michigan Consolidated.

A supply of gas will be received from Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co., whose line now extends to Menominee. Hugh C. Daly, executive vice president of Michigan Consolidated, said "The decision of the Hanna Co. to use gas supplied by Michigan Consolidated in its Randville plant makes it possible to put together a project which will bring gas to the Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Iron River and Crystal Falls areas and to nearby communities."

Lower Peninsula Rates
"Upper Peninsula customers will pay the same low rates charged customers in Lower Peninsula communities," Daly said.

"All industries in the area to be served will pay the same rates for gas as our customers in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Muskegon and more than 175 other communities."

"Escanaba has a municipally-owned liquid petroleum gas manufacturing plant and distribution system. We will propose to buy the Escanaba facilities, expand and recondition them and convert them to natural gas, serving Escanaba, Gladstone and adjacent populated areas."

"We believe it will be economically feasible to extend service westward as far as Iron River in 1965. We are inviting public officials of some 37 communities to attend a meeting at the Dickinson Hotel in Iron Mountain at 7:30 p. m. July 9, to discuss the project we have in mind."

"We will then seek prompt approval of the Michigan Public Service Commission and the Federal Power Commission."

Northern Natural Project
Announcement by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. that it had signed a contract for supply of natural gas to the Hanna Co.'s Groveland Mine plant solves the greatest problem which the Upper Peninsula's natural gas project has confronted in its more than 10 years of effort, at least for one industry. That is a gas contract with industry.

Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha had asked the Federal Power Commission for permission to construct a natural gas line from Duluth to Escanaba-Gladstone and serve all the intervening Upper Peninsula, but it announced this week that it is now pressing before the FPC with its application for permission to serve the Mesabi Range in Minnesota, where it has a contract to supply Erie Mining Co. with gas in 1965.

Northern Natural reported that it had been unsuccessful as yet—but was hopeful of success soon—in its contractual efforts with U. P. mining companies to permit 1965 pipe line construction. "We feel the public interest would be best served by proceeding to hearing without delay on the Mesabi portion of this application," announced Northern Natural's Assistant Vice President H. M. Sampson.

Pipe Line Ready
Where Northern Natural has not yet been successful in industrial sign-up on the Marquette Range, Michigan Consolidated has been able to sign Hanna on the Menominee Range in its proposal to pro-

EHS 1909 Class Reunites Here

"I remember, I remember" reechoed Wednesday night as a lively group of 30 members of the Escanaba High School Class of 1909 met in the House of Ludington in 55th reunion.

Toastmaster Mike Jensen and General Chairman Austin Stromberg introduced a good cheer program. Sparking the occasion were some tall tales by the class doctor, Martin Swanson, M.D., of Rockford, Ill., by the class philatelist, Olaf Arthur Olson of Chicago, and by veteran journalist Stromberg, of Chicago and Lost Lake, Iron County.

Dr. Swanson reported he has two sons who are practicing physicians. An obstetrician of 40 years experience, he has ushered 4,000 or more babies into the Rockford area.

Olaf Olson told experiences in World War I in France, and later in the wilds of Wyoming, where he fraternized with grizzly bears in his years of forestry service.

Stromberg at the luncheon hour presented a mock political speech as Lars Larson, alderman of the Second Ward of Minneapolis appearing for reelection on a platform of "garbage can sanitation."

Rev. Karl J. Hammar, a guest speaker, told the group about the Escanaba Ore Centennial celebration scheduled for July 11.

Highlights were a class roll-call by Effie Dickson, a memorial by Flora Clark to departed classmates, and a class singing session.

Gust Asp told about his World War I experience with Rear Admiral Rintoul Whitney on the troopship Leviathan, commanded by Whitney.

Roy Carlson of Fort Wayne, a trucking official, told how he turned his hobby of photography to account as editor and publisher of the Midwest Railroad and Roster Journal, Carlson, a steam train buff, distributed copies of the Railroad which he publishes at Box 2665, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

After luncheon members of the class toured the new Escanaba Area High School with Principal Steve Baltic.

Two Men Injured In Shallow Dives

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two men were hospitalized Thursday after separate accidents involving shallow water dives near here.

James Jordan, 34, of Flushing, suffered head and back injuries when he dived into about two feet of water. He was at a motel just south of Grand Rapids.

Gary Billow, 22, of Grand Rapids, was reported in serious condition at Butterworth Hospital here under treatment for a neck fracture suffered on an outing at nearby Long Lake. State police said he made a running dive from shore into about two feet of water.

July Fourth Program Set

A varied program of activities will be held at Ludington Park Saturday afternoon and evening as part of the July Fourth celebration.

Races and novelty events will begin at 1:15 p. m. at the Karas Memorial Bandshell for boys and girls six years of age through 13. Boys will run in forward and backward races and will kick or throw a football for distance. Girls will race forwards and backwards and will compete in a ping-pong ball throwing contest.

Prizes will be awarded to first, second and third place winners in each event. Erwood Slade and David Vardigan of the staff of the recreation department will be in charge of this part of the program.

The 14th annual baby contest will begin at 2:15 at the Karas Memorial Band Shell. Parents are asked to report at the bandshell at 1:30 p. m. for registration. The contest is open to all babies two years of age through five whose parents have been residents of Delta County for at least the past six months.

Babies will be judged on beauty, personality and poise. Prizes have been donated. Judging will be done by a committee headed by Mrs. John Sankovitch, assisted by Mrs. John Hemes and Mrs. Robert Coan.

The Escanaba City Band, under the direction of Cecil Collins, will present a concert from the bandshell at 7:30 p. m. The climax of the celebration will be the fireworks display at 9:15. This part of the program will be directed by Francis Lueneburg, director of the municipal bathing beach, assisted by members of his staff of lifeguards.

Protection From Tetanus Urged In Outdoor Trend

Tetanus is one of the most dangerous diseases that can strike a human being.

No antibiotic or other drug can halt a full-blown case, and about 60 per cent of those afflicted by the disease die.

Yet by means of immunization, tetanus is almost completely preventable.

The seeds, or spores, of tetanus can be found in the cultivated soils of most areas of the United States. They can be picked up by plants or animals, and introduced into the victim's body by something as seemingly inconsequential as the scratch of a thorn or insect bite.

Usually the first nerves affected are those of the head and neck which control the chewing muscles. These turn rigid with spasm, giving the disease its familiar name — lockjaw.

While millions of babies and members of the armed forces have been inoculated against tetanus, about three-fourths of the adult population is lacking in immunity. The reason is that the protection offered by immunization wears off after several years, and must be re-established by "booster" shots, which most people fail to get.

Protection should start early — one and a half to two months after birth — for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities. In children, as well as adults, immunity is initiated by a series of three shots, spread out over eight weeks, and followed by a booster dose within six to twelve months. Thereafter, immunity is maintained by booster shots every five years.

With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spores of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, an increase in this deadly disease is indicated unless people make the effort to get immunized and keep immunized.

Physicals Given To 18 Year Olds

Miss Mary Wagner, clerk of the Local draft board, announced that the July induction call is for only one man, Carl J. Stone, Rapid River, a volunteer. There will be no call for inductions in August.

The following men will report to the local draft board office for pre-induction at 2:30 p. m. July 6 and will be transported by bus to Milwaukee. They are: Craig A. Peterson, Escanaba, leader, James M. Larson, Rock, Gary D. Sodergard, Gladstone, Clifton L. Moser, Rapid River, Vanner A. Erickson, Garden, Kenneth W. Chroge, Brampton, and Steve J. Soper Jr., Escanaba.

The men will return via charter bus the night of July 7.

Tentative call for August pre-induction has been received and is for 12 men.

Beginning in August, 18-year-olds will be given pre-induction examinations. The Draft Board will mail orders to six 18-year-old registrants in the area. Orders will be mailed when a date of reporting is received.

Early examination of 18-year-olds will have no effect on the time when young men will actually be called for induction.

These early examinations will enable those who are found qualified for military service to plan intelligently for their future in this respect. The early examination does not mean earlier induction under current draft regulations.

Aged Get 'Lift' In Federal Jobs

By DON LANG

"This is the nicest birthday present I've ever had" exclaimed Hannah Anderson, who was 73 last Sunday, about the new elevator installed at the Delta County Nursing Home.

Thanks to Hannah, who is remembered as "Miss Phoenix," former manager of Phoenix Lumber Co. for 40 years, many of the residents of the Nursing Home are now able to come downstairs and go outside alone without help.

"It all started about a year and a half ago" said Harold Vanlerberghe, chairman of the Delta County Budget Committee, "when Hannah heard me talking about needs for the Nursing Home and sources available for financing them, during a city council broadcast. Hannah wrote to me asking for a stairway lift for wheelchair patients who couldn't get downstairs by themselves."

That started the wheels rolling and Vanlerberghe and Hannah began sending letters to various organizations and foundations seeking one that would undertake the financing of the project.

County Approves For a year and a half the quest went on to no avail. It seemed most of the organizations written to, such as Ford and S. S. Kresge foundations, had rules or regulations prohibiting the investment of money into such a building as the nursing home, partially because of its old age.

Things were discouraging until the project was brought up before the county Board of Supervisors, which allocated $5,000 of the 1964-65 budget for it. Inquiries made about a full sized elevator, for use by patients in beds, showed that the most inexpensive one would cost between $25,000 and $45,000, which was out of the question because the County Welfare Dept., which leases the building to the manager, Mrs. Dora Peterson, would not approve of putting such a large amount into an old building.

It was decided that an "Elevator" or small elevator would serve the purpose and Erling Arntzen Contractors installed it last Friday at a cost well under that allocated by the Board.

Prayer Answered "We have made history" Miss Anderson wrote this week in a letter to Vanlerberghe. "The Delta Nursing Home has a patient elevator. I had a ride on it yesterday and of course I'm happy about it. What seemed impossible two years ago is a reality and I know it is an answered prayer."

"An answered prayer" is the best description patients of the Home give the new elevator.

The next project to be undertaken by the occupants of the Nursing home said Charles Sedenquist, chairman of the Board of Supervisors is the extension of cable TV service so patients who can't go outside or read or write will have something to occupy their time. The original estimate of extending the cable from town to the Home was $800. The City of Escanaba, Delta County, and

Duck Refuge Renewal Sought

When the Michigan Conservation Commission meets in Sault Ste. Marie next week, it will be asked to extend the ban on hunting in the Little Bay de Noc Waterfowl Refuge.

The commission re-established the refuge there in 1959. It covers about 730 acres of marsh adjacent to the City of Escanaba.

"It has been well accepted as contributing to the success of waterfowl hunting in the nearby marshes, and our field men favor its renewal," said Harry Ruhl, Lansing, chief of the Conservation Department's Game Section, in a report to the commission.

If the commission follows the recommendation, as it is expected to do, hunting will continue to be prohibited in the refuge during the open waterfowl season. The proposed extended ban covers a five-year period beginning next Sept. 15.

Fair Track To Get New Fence

The Upper Peninsula State Fair Grounds track is getting a new fence, but it won't be ready for the 1964 Fair opening on Tuesday, Aug. 18.

Fair Manager Ray LaPorte said that the state had allotted $4,500 for replacement of the fencing about the fair's quarter mile track. It is in deteriorated condition.

The fair has a long track and short track and it is fencing only its short track, which now serves fair track needs. The new fence will be 8 feet high like the old one and the Board of Fair Managers is considering several material possibilities, like U.P.-made rustic cedar fencing, corrugated steel and fir. The present fence, 1,700 feet in length is of hemlock and was erected in 1950.

The delegates will represent more than 70,000 4-H'ers in every county of the state. The 4-H program is one of many educational activities carried on through MSU's Cooperative Extension Services.

The theme of this year's Club Week is, "Today's Decision . . . Tomorrow's Action." Delegates from Delta County include: Judy Dieter, Soo Hill; Henry Mroczkowski, Danforth; Dennis Rappette, Flat Rock and Myra Strom, Escanaba.

Today's young person needs to set his values and goals high if he is to succeed, she says. A good set of objectives is extremely important in decision making for the whole process is dependent on them.

Soon after their arrival on campus, the young people will divide into 30 groups, each named for a college in Michigan. Much of the week will be devoted to learning about careers and skills. During the career panorama on Tuesday evening, July 7, 4-H'ers will be able to counsel with personnel and learn about the educational requirements and opportunities of over 100 career possibilities. They will also attend sessions on more than 20 skill ranging from public speaking and news writing to Peace Corps opportunities.

188 Years Ago

By ROBERT COCHNAR

Suppose the drafters of the Declaration of Independence had neglected to add this paragraph to their document:

"And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our Sacred Honor."

It would have been remarkable if any revolution could have been made.

But, of course, the delegates to the Continental Congress of 1776 added that final paragraph, stuck their necks under the shadow of King George's hangman and set to work to make their fine vision an accomplished fact. The Declaration of Independence did not create the Revolution; men did.

One hundred and eighty-eight years have passed since that hot summer day in Philadelphia. That historic bit of parchment, faded and scarred, is still a part of mid-twentieth century America. Sometimes, however, we act as though we would like to forget about the acts and deeds of the men which gave meaning to the Declaration.

We have a tendency to assume that once we have made the right sort of speeches and passed the proper kind of resolutions, nothing more needs to be done.

We have some lovely sets of words. But sometimes we seem not to know how to fit action to them. We can sign declarations of independence, but we don't stick around for Valley Forge and Saratoga.

There are plenty of good examples:

Within the last few years, Americans innumerable have voiced ringing declarations about the irony of permitting poverty to exist in a land of unrivaled plenty; about our need for an effective campaign to wipe out city slums; about the criminal folly of allowing Americans to kill themselves on the highways; about the necessity to conserve our great natural resources; about the unalienable right of all people to freedom, justice and opportunity; about the absolute mandate for peace. But have we done enough to translate any of these declarations into fact? We have talked and resolved and deplored and condemned—and the targets of our resolving and condemning still loom large and frightening.

We could take a hint from the men of 1776. They spoke their minds about the iniquity of Tyranny—and then, with their own hands, went out and delivered themselves from it.

Business That's Here

Businessmen who want to spend less time on economic planning and more on working the cash register can do it now. The tourist business is peaking up in the Upper Peninsula and there are thousands of visitors on the highways every day spending money. How much they spend depends not only upon the state of our visitors' purses, but also on the things which the Peninsula offers for sale.

Ken Dorman, manager of the Upper Michigan Development Bureau, showing his chin whiskers and string tie in more places than a medicine hawker these busy summer days, says that now's the time for businessmen to sell the tourists and to put by some of their profits to bring a bigger crop of visitors next year.

The biggest attractions of the Lower Peninsula for recreationists, says Dorman, are the warm inland lakes for family outings. In the Upper Peninsula, inquiries at all major entry points show that 84 per cent of visitors come here because of scenic attractions. Dorman is so anxious to welcome them that he wouldn't care if they came for a hangnail cure or suntan, but as a practical promoter he points out that scenic attractions are apt to be a one-shot cause of visitation.

"People don't go to Yellowstone every year to see the geysers," suggests Dorman. "They're not apt to come back the next year to see Father Marquette's grave again. So we have got to promote 40 per cent of new crop each year to keep our summer recreation volume up."

"Our promotional budget has to cover a lot more people than that of the Lower Peninsula because so many of them are coming here just to look at the beauty of the Upper Peninsula. Now is the time for our U.P. businessmen to set aside some of their advertising dollars to bring more visitors next year."

The Upper Michigan Tourist Association is spending 20,000 this summer on 250,000 copies of a new color brochure on the Upper Peninsula showing the historic and scenic attractions of all its 15 counties. The last of the photos are being made now and the folder will be in circulation this summer.

They say that a fool can put on his coat better than a wise man can do it for him, but the businessman who sets out to advertise his business to tourists by his own efforts will never put his money to work as hard as the one who joins the cooperative efforts to project the image of the Upper Peninsula as a vacationland strongly across the Midwest.

The Doctor Says:

Anxieties Cause Sweating

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt.

Q — My son, 18, sweats profusely even when he is just sitting at home or in a classroom. What can he do to control this?

A — Any sweating that is not induced by violent exercise may be caused by anxiety or other emotional stimuli. Trying to build up a more relaxed approach to life in a boy who has reached 18 will probably be a long and difficult job — one that may require the guidance of a psychologically oriented physician.

Meanwhile, your son may get some relief from a solution containing aluminum chloride but this must be used with caution because some persons are overly sensitive to it. Baking soda dusted on the body may also help. There are also some newer chemical agents that can be applied locally, such as AHR 483 — but this is more expensive. Bella-donna taken inter-ally in small doses will reduce sweating but it is also likely to dilate the pupils and to make the mouth dry. It's the old story of no advantage without some loss.

Q — I have been taking quinine three times a day for several years because of an irregular pulse with tachycardia at times. Is it harmful to take this drug for so long a time?

A — Quinine is of great value for persons with some types of rapid pulse and irregular rhythm. The dose must be carefully controlled because too much may depress the heart and may cause such side effects as headache, vomiting, diarrhea, sweating, fainting, ringing of the ears and blurred vision. If these occur you should stop the drug immediately. Otherwise you may continue it as long as you need it to control your attacks of fast pulse.

How About the "Spirit of '64"?

Washington Comment

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In private talks, U. S. officials make it crystal clear the United States won't stop with halting the Reds in Laos and rolling them back to where they were before the recent Pathet Lao military advances.

The U. S. objective is one step further down the road.

President Johnson's advisers are now determined the United States will not halt in Laos.

First—Until we have neutralized the Ho Chi Minh trail along the Lao eastern border. It is down this trail (actually dozens of trails) that North Viet Nam's Ho supplies his Red Viet Cong fighters in South Viet Nam with cadres of trained fighter-organizers and with small but significant amounts of key arms and supplies.

Second — Until we have "neutralized" the Red safe havens in eastern Laos and Cambodia. Ho's Viet Cong retreat to these havens (where U. S. troops can't pursue) when they are cornered and put on the run by South Vietnamese and American troops in the Viet Nam war.

U. S. government analysts believe the war can't be won in South Viet Nam until the Ho Chi Minh trail and the safe havens are made ineffective.

Some weeks ago, South Viet Nam Premier Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh and conservative Lao leaders reportedly reached an agreement to seal these Viet Cong supply routes, whose use by the North Vietnamese was banned by the Geneva accords. (The conservative Lao forces and their tribesmen allies had been relatively strong in parts of the area through which these trails run).

One major objective of the recent Red advances in Laos was to insure the "safety" of these illegal Ho Chi Minh trails.

Some recent Pathet Lao attacks not only strengthened Red control of the Ho Chi Minh trail area, but widened the area to include better trails and some roads. This will make it easier for the Reds to step up traffic to the south and more difficult for conservative Lao and South Viet Nam forces to bar that traffic.

The current U. S. plan is to use a combination of military force and diplomatic maneuvering to eliminate these trails and safe havens.

The United States would beef up loyal Lao forces and draw in other Asian and U. S. troops, if necessary, through either Thailand or South Viet Nam. The force would be used in Laos and Viet Nam, not Cambodia.

Meanwhile, having gathered aerial photographic evidence of illegal Red use of trails and safe havens, the United States will go to the United Nations and other international bodies and demand effective international inspection.

Johnson's advisers believe that as a signatory to the international accords which guarantee the security of Laos we are in a good legal position to justify military action if diplomacy doesn't work and the Reds don't back down.

These officials therefore feel able to take strong risks.

RESPECT FOR LAW

As chairman of the Americanism Committee, Manistique Post 83, American Legion, I feel that a position must be made concerning the events of the past several weeks over the battle of road signs on the right-of-ways. Who is actually right on the question is not the concern of our Post; this is a matter for the courts to decide. Our concern is the apparent lack of interest in law and order upon which this great democracy was founded.

The great increase in the national crime rate is a disgrace. Often criminals escape capture simply because citizens are apathetic and lacking in the interest of helping our law enforcement officers. Recently in Manistique and Schoolcraft County we had a complete reverse of this trend when a group of citizens helped local police officers capture a pair of armed criminals. This Post and our local people are proud of them and congratulate them on their fine job. Our City Government recently cited them for their bravery.

But, since then, as a state employee was doing his job, a person threatened him with a rifle. The same people are congratulating this citizen for disobeying the law. She paid her debt to society and was sorry for what she did. Why didn't others let her go her way? But no, they must capitalize for self-gain at her expense.

Our highest state official used the phrase, "I admire your spunkiness." A newspaper editorial quotes the event as a bad image that the U. P. is giving itself. . . . and other statements which tend to release this person from an act of lawlessness. If this citizen acted through the courts solely, as she no doubt will in the future, her spunkiness would have meant something in fighting against what she felt was unjust.

It is the hope of this Committee that the citizens of this state realize the proper use of democracy as stated by William Howard Taft, 27th President of the United States. "To obey the law is to support democracy. If every man thinks every law must suit him in order that he shall obey it, he does not support democracy but destroys it. The basis of good government lies in the fact that the people are willing to obey the law as they have determined it to be." Let us put out arms away as they tend to tempt spur of the moment thinking which leads to violence and despair."

William E. Cowman
Americanism Chairman
Manistique Post 83

Just what is this world coming to?

The idea of even thinking of putting a (topless woman's) bathing suit on the market is absolutely rotten, but going ahead and selling them, and foolish women and girls who buy them, are only trying to create a scandalous show.

When people from all over attend our Fair, you will never see a girl out in public (on stage) undressed that way. I think it is shocking to think what our daughters who are growing up will have to contend with.

Disgusted

Dear Mother: Please don't expect a few lines from me to repair a relationship which has been coming apart at the seams for years. Unhappily you've been unable to make the girl understand the necessity of a high school diploma and the value of a higher education.

Since she is of legal age there is nothing you can do to keep her at home. So give her your blessings and let her know the door is always open. She'll discover being on her own is not so glamorous as she thought. When she does come home which will be soon, I hope, please don't say "We told you so."

Dear Ann Landers: Our 12-year-old daughter Diane is an only child. Because of my husband's work we must go out socially at least three evenings a week.

Our neighbors have a 17-year old son who is eager to earn some spending money. For the last several months we have had this boy sit with Diane. It seemed like a perfectly splendid idea — until recently.

When my husband and I came home Saturday night at about midnight, Diane was not in her bed. She was in the bathroom with the door locked. We pounded on the door until she let us in. The poor girl had fallen asleep. She had taken her pillow and blanket and made a bed for herself in the bathtub.

We finally got an explanation out of her. Diane's bedroom door has no lock and she is afraid of the boy. She gave us her word that he had never done or said anything wrong — but she was "afraid he might."

We don't want to be unfair to the boy, Ann. What should we do? We believe Diane was telling us the whole truth. Thank you. — CONCERNED PARENTS.

Dear Parents: The boy may be perfectly fine in every respect, but it is apparent that Diane is not comfortable with him.

Get a girl sitter — a big sister substitute. The boy, of course, need not be told the reason for the change.

Dear Ann Landers: Ten years ago my husband took his older brother, Manny, into his business because his mother begged him to. Manny ruined their father's business which was left to him and he then went through most of the money left to his mother. I don't know how else to describe him except to say he is one of those people who knows everything and has never been wrong in his life.

My husband sold Manny 25% of the business for $10,000 which he "borrowed" from my mother. To listen to him you'd think my husband was working for him.

Last month Manny took his nit-wit son (age 22) into the business and is calling him sales manager. He did this without consulting anybody.

My husband is getting ulcers from all this. He feels guilty because brothers are supposed to love each other. Legally he can throw them both out but he is afraid it might harm the family relationship. — SPLITTING HEAD.

Dear Head: The family relationships sound pretty shaky right now. What's to harm?

I hope your husband will buy Manny's 25% back even if he has to pay a lot more than he thinks he should.

Don't feel guilty. Relatives who feed from a common trough frequently have hostile feelings toward one another although they present a beautiful picture of solidarity to outsiders. (If the boys get along well, their wives don't — etc.) Of course there are exceptions, but they are as rare as sand flies in Siberia.

Ann, Honey: I read your column every day and I hope you won't take seriously that letter from "Sugar and Spice."

He was the old meanie who criticized you for calling your readers "Buster," "Butter-Cup," "Petunia," "Lambie Pie" and a few other cutesy wootsy names.

I am at least twice your age, Doll, and so far as I am concerned, your column is refreshingly down-to-earth. Please don't ever change. You can call me "Buddy Boy" anything you want to and I hope it is real soon. — LOUISVILLE SALT AND PEPPER.

Dear Louisville: Thanks for those kind words, Buddy Boy. See — you didn't have to wait long.

House of the Week

Here's Both In One

CHARMING DECEIVER: This handsome ranch-like exterior actually is more than it seems to be. Inside are 8½ rooms, two of them on a second floor which is not readily apparent from the front but which overlooks a large rear patio. A clever design for a family which needs four bedrooms yet wants a house with a ranchy appearance.

SECRET ON STAIRWAY: No use hiding these attractive stairs in some darkened corner. Architect Samuel Paul has placed them in paneled foyer to make them distinctive feature of house.

FLOOR PLANS: An 80' by 100' plot is recommended for H-38, which provides 1,594 square feet of living area on the first floor and 584 square feet on the second floor. Note the generous-sized rooms on both floors.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Ralph Moxley, chief of the Birmingham Police Department, was elected president Wednesday of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

He succeeded Chief Arthur Pears of Niles in elections which ended business sessions of the organization represented by about 100 members here for the 1964 convention.

Resolutions adopted by the association included a call for adding 300 troopers to the 1,159-man Michigan State Police force, commended Gov. George Romney for his traffic safety program and saluted J. Edgar Hoover on his 40th year as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The association made no decision on its 1965 convention site.

Other election results named as association 1st vice president, William A. Johnson, superintendent of the Grand Rapids Police Department; 2nd vice president, Fred Serra, chief of Mount Morris, and Ralph LaRock, chief at Iron River, to the newly created association post of sergeant at arms.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs was reelected association secretary-treasurer.

Selecting the right house for the family should be a pleasure—and usually is. But this normally exciting venture can become a burden if your family has growing pains and you can't find a house for your budget.

A multi-level house is usually the answer when you need a house with four bedrooms. Of all the multi-level types, the 1½-story most nearly approaches the comforts of a ranch house while still providing the economy of building up rather than out.

Today's House of the Week, a 1½-story creation of architect Samuel Paul, is a case in point. Look at it from the front and you see a charming, rustic, low-slung ranch silhouette. Yet it has a second floor with two spacious bedrooms and a full bath. Because of its location, overlooking the rear patio, it does not disturb the ranch-style street view.

A 1½-story, 8½-room house, with a living room, dining room, kitchen, dinette, two bedrooms, a full bath, a lavatory, a powder room, a paneled foyer, a rear porch, front porch, mud room and two-car garage on the first floor. Two bedrooms, a full bath and a balcony are on the second floor. Dimensions are 65' 10" by 56' 6" covering 1,594 square feet.

There are 6½ rooms on the first floor of this cleverly-designed house, H-38 in the weekly series. In addition to the living room, dining room, kitchen, dinette and family room, there are two large bedrooms and a bathroom with an unusual layout. A small powder room, equipped with a vanity and a basin, precedes the full bath, thus effectively doubling usage of the bathroom when necessary.

Studied detail has been incorporated into the floor plan. Every major room is a corner room with a resulting abundance of cross ventilation. There is a pocket-sliding door which can separate the entire lower bedroom area from the rest of the house. A stone fireplace, with an adjoining space ideally suited for a built-in music center, serves as a focal point in the living room. There is a wide arch between the living room and the dining room, which is in turn separated from the patio by sliding doors. The kitchen has a number of interesting features. There are such things as a range top with a built in griddle backed up to an exposed stone wall, an adjoining oven and broiler, an enclosed dishwasher and a double-bowl sink under a large window overlooking the porch. The dinette has its own charm, with bay-style windows overlooking the front porch and separated from the family room by an attractive rail and plantery. The adjoining family room is two steps below the dinette and close enough to the kitchen for serving and control. There are sliding doors leading to the covered rear porch and an abundance of wall space.

Also on the first floor are a service area, complete with a lavatory, mud room, laundry space and closet, all adjacent to the side entrance and convenient to the kitchen as well. The two-car garage has a side entrance porch that shelters the door from street view.

The extra upstairs space is reached via a wooden stairs located in the wood-paneled entrance foyer with a cathedral ceiling. Architect Paul wisely decided to highlight the access to the second floor rather than hide or disguise it, as is often done in 1½-story homes.

A final note: although the second floor is well integrated into the design of the house, you can leave much of the space unfinished until actually needed.

Declaration Has Had Long Life Since 1776

The Declaration of Independence has had a long and rigorous life since its birth in 1776.

The parchment, housed recently in Washington's National Archives building, is faded and discolored. Most of its signatures are illegible.

But the marks and scars of time have meaning. They tell of the perils survived by the document that proclaimed these "self-evident" truths: "that all men are created equal . . . endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness."

The Declaration is now protected by every means known to science. For nearly 150 years however, it was the most traveled, handled and innocently abused of all America's state papers.

Although the worn document's heading reads, "In Congress, July 4, 1776," it was not signed on that day. Nor, in fact, was independence from Great Britain declared on July 4.

The Continental Congress cut the ties which bound the 13 colonies to England on July 2 when it approved a resolution submitted by Richard Henry Lee. The Declaration of Independence, written by Thomas Jefferson and edited by John Adams and Benjamin Franklin, was merely an explanation and defense of this action.

When the Declaration was ready, on August 2, it was signed by John Hancock as president of the Congress and the 50 or so members present for the session. The other signatures were added later.

From its earliest days, the Declaration led a precarious life. During the Revolution, the paper was taken secretly to Baltimore and Annapolis, Md.; Lancaster and York, Pa., and Trenton, N.J., to keep it from the British. After the war, it was in New York and finally came to Washington.

But there was still no rest for the American statement of liberty. To protect it from the British during the War of 1812, the Declaration was hastily sewn into linen bags and hidden in a barn on a nearby Virginia farm.

Then it was spirited to the home of a Leesburg, Va., preacher for the war's duration.

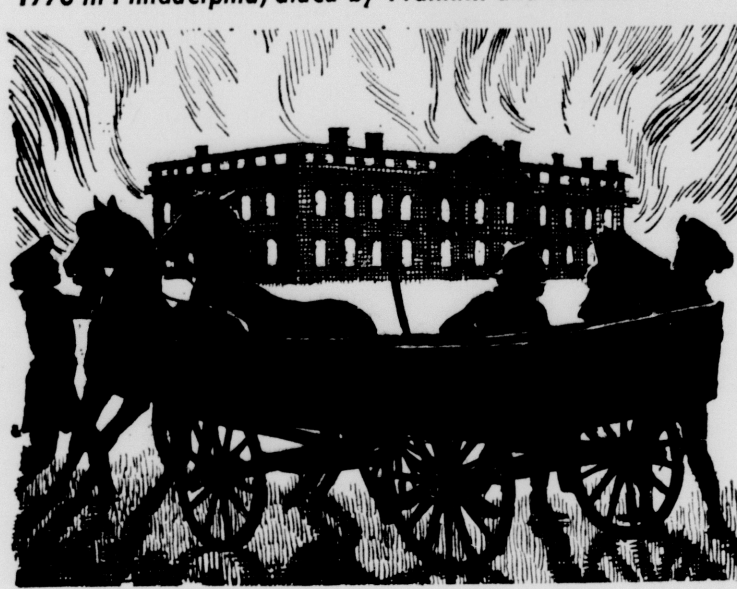

Strangely, the Declaration apparently suffered less in war than in peace. Much of the loss of ink from the original is blamed on a facsimile plate made in the early 1820s.

Sunlight and seasonal heat and cold took their toll when the Declaration was exposed between 1841 and 1894. It first hung unprotected, before a window on the wall of the Patent Office. In 1876, it was lent to Philadelphia for its centennial celebration and then exhibited in the State Department's library.

The parchment was removed from public view in 1894 and stored in a steel case. But in 1924, it was transferred to the Library of Congress and shown under a double-paned, filter-

Jefferson drafted the document during the hot summer of 1776 in Philadelphia, aided by Franklin and Adams.

When British troops marched on Washington in 1812, the Declaration was moved to a Virginia farm by wagon.

The Declaration, along with the Constitution and Bill of Rights, is now on permanent view at National Archives.

equipped plate glass.

Except for a three-year period during World War II when it, along with other national treasures, was stored at Fort Knox, Ky., the Declaration remained at the library until 1952. It was then transferred to the new National Archives.

The exhibition hall in Archives was designed to create a fitting background as well as the safest possible haven for the Declaration, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights—the three most precious papers in the American heritage.

The protective devices go far beyond the containers that ward off the effects of time and atmosphere. Below the hall is a steel and concrete vault that is fireproof, shockproof and bombproof. At the end of each day, the documents are lowered into the vault.

New High Set In Auto Plants

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto plants set a new record high for a model year run Thursday as output of 1964's reached 7,372,000 with nearly four weeks more of '64 production left.

The old record of 7,340,014 was set in the entire 1963 model run. One automotive source, Ward's Reports, predicted the '64 run would wind up with about 7,893,000 units.

Ward's said its survey of '65 prospects led it to believe the market may soften slightly in '65, with major vendors leaning towards a figure of between 7.6 million and 7.8 million cars.

Auto makers turned out an estimated 158,861 cars this week, running the calendar year output past the 4.5 million mark, according to Automotive News, a trade publication. The week's count, trimmed by the Fourth of July holiday, compared with 179,030 last week and 126,867 in the corresponding week a year ago.

Truck output for the week was an estimated 30,495 units, down from last week's 34,201 but ahead of the year-ago week's 20,785. The total for the year to date moved up to 887,536, compared with 767,578 at this point a year ago.

BRANFORD, Conn. (AP) — Malleable Iron Fittings Co. says it is absorbing Detroit Brass & Malleable Co.

The consolidation has been carried out through an exchange of cash and stock, spokesmen for the two firms said.

Under the consolidation, they will produce and sell malleable iron and cast iron pipe fittings and related products throughout the western hemisphere through a new MIF-Detroit Pipe Fittings Division.

The pipe fittings manufacturing operation of the Detroit firm will be moved to Branford. Pipe fittings production of the combined firms will be more than doubled, said T. F. Hammer, chairman of the board of MIF.

Topless Suits Banned Only At Bathing Pools

EAST LANSING (AP) — Apparently the only places on the Michigan State University campus where coeds may not appear in topless bathing suits are the swimming pools.

They have been banned in the pools by order of Harris Beeman, director of the MSU intramural program, but campus police say there is no ordinance covering the covering of a coed elsewhere.

"Our ability to enforce any ban under a law right now does not exist," said Richard O. Bernitt, "But," he added, "where else would they appear, except at the pool?"

The problem has not come up, Beeman said. The same rule applies to bikinis that are too scanty — another problem that has not developed he added.

The latest weapon against crabgrass is a variety of chemical compounds called pre-emergence control. These chemicals, applied in early spring, are intended to stop crabgrass before it can germinate. Users claim 95 per cent success.

Income Record Set By AT&T

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported total net income in the three months ended May 31 rose to $425,305,000, a record for any quarter.

Chairman Frederick R. Kappel told more than 2.4 million shareholders in the quarterly report that "we have been experiencing a remarkable growth in the demand for telephone service."

The net income of AT&T, parent company of the nationwide Bell Telephone System, was equal to 81 cents a share on the new stock. It represented a 13 per cent increase over a year ago.

This compared with $375,325,000, or 75 cents a share, on the same basis in 1963. The rise of $50 million was one of the biggest in recent years.

This is the second consecutive quarter in which AT&T earnings and per share figures set a high. In the quarter ended Feb. 29 earnings amounted to almost $398 million, or 79 cents a share on the split stock.

Key Wells Stay At Record Lows

LANSING (AP) — Ground water levels in 10 key wells throughout the state are at record or near record lows for the month, reports the U. S. Department of Geological Survey.

In the south central Lower Peninsula, reported P. R. Giroux, department geologist, this marked the 23rd consecutive month of low levels.

The ground water levels are expected to decline until the growing season ends in the fall, Giroux said.

'Play It Safe' In The Water, Say State Police

If you're one of the thousands of Michigan water sports fans going to lakes and streams for the July 4 weekend, don't let your pleasure cause you to neglect the rules of safety, says the State Police.

When boating, have life preservers for passengers and other rescue equipment aboard, caution occupants against standing or changing places when underway, and be watchful for any sudden worsening of the weather.

When swimming, go to the authorized places. Always keep an eye on youngsters who are playing in or near the water. And finally, quite often in water accident emergencies, there are no trained persons immediately available to help. That's why it's important to know a method of resuscitation which could help you save some victim's life. Whether you're boating, swimming, fishing, water skiing or scuba diving over the Fourth, celebrate your holiday in safety.

Even A Veterinarian!

Air Base Medical Services Are Varied And Complete

SAWYER AFB — "The health of the people is really the foundation upon which all their happiness and all their powers as a state depend."

Benjamin Disraeli's statement of 1877 could well apply to the personnel here as they serve their country.

The military deterrent muscle of Strategic Air Command depends on healthy men and women. Therefore, the goal of the 806th Medical Group, commanded by Dr. (Lt. Col.) Francis O'Brien, is to ensure that the flying crews, maintenance personnel and all the supports personnel and their dependents are in excellent mental and physical health.

The 806th Medical Group supports the aerospace mission at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base as well as all other military organizations in the Marquette area. The modern base hospital serves military, retired military, and authorized dependents. In addition, it provides medical care for the 245 personnel at Calumet Air Force Station in the Copper Country.

The hospital has 50 authorized beds to care for medical and surgical cases. Several physicians are assigned to the base hospital to handle particular specialized areas of medicine. The special doctors are: Lt. Charles Commer, optometrist; Capt. Robert C. Johnson, internal medicine; Capt. Edward J. J. O'Brien, obstetrician; Col. O'Brien, orthopedics; Capt. George M. Kepf, surgeon; and Captains William Ringer and Alexander Poston, flight surgeons.

General practitioner at the hospital is Capt. Edward Holland.

The hospital handles some 38 in-patients per day and about 175 out-patients each day. They fill about 103 prescriptions, perform about 92 laboratory procedures, and take about 75 X-rays per day.

The 806th Medical Group also maintains a modern dental clinic, supervised by Lt. Col. Richard Kienholz. The dental facility is manned by 10 dentists, 19 airmen and one civilian.

A veterinarian section, whose goal is to ensure proper conditions for good health, is supervised by Capt. Bernard F. Feldman. Most people think of the veterinarian as a doctor for animals, but this is only a minor part of the work done by the base veterinarian. His major operation is to ensure the cleanliness and quality of all food stuffs used or sold on base. Four enlisted men are assigned to the section to assist in the work.

Because of the many jobs performed at the hospital, it is important to have a competent staff, large enough and efficient to deal with each individual's needs. Currently there are 29 airmen in the 806th Medical Group's on-the-job training program at K. I. Sawyer AFB.

Car Still Runs; Driven Around World In 1908

By BILL STALL

RENO, Nev. (AP) — George Schuster doesn't drive anymore because, at 91, his eyes aren't so sharp. But Schuster grinned and gripped the wheel firmly as he steered the old Thomas Flyer on a little spin down a back road near Reno recently.

"It runs perfect," Schuster beamed later. "It still will go 55 miles an hour."

The four-cylinder, 60-horsepower auto was built in 1907 and was driven, coaxed, pulled and pushed virtually around the world by Schuster and his E. R. Thomas Auto Co. teammates in 1908.

Rolls Into Paris

The Flyer, with 35-year-old Schuster at the helm, rolled into Paris July 30 that year after a punishing 13,000-mile trip to win the New York-Paris auto race sponsored by the New York Times and the Paris Matin.

Schuster chuckles as he recalls shoveling through snowdrifts across the United States, hitchhiking a steamer ride to Alaska and back, chugging past amazed Japanese and searching for a new transmission somewhere in Russia.

Schuster was a test driver for the Thomas company of Buffalo, N.Y., in 1908 when he chanced to chat with Montague Roberts, a Thomas official in New York City.

"He asked me if I would go on the New York-Paris car with him as mechanic."

They left New York City on Feb. 12.

Roberts left the Thomas in Cheyenne, Wyo., to meet racing commitments in the East. Linn Mathewson, the Thomas dealer in Denver, Colo., took the wheel. Schuster became driver and team captain in San Francisco. He's the only survivor of the team.

The designated route was by steamship to Valdez, Alaska, for an ice crossing of the Bering Strait to Siberia. That's why the race started in winter. But the route was changed to a sea crossing to Japan.

Schuster and his crew of two drove through Japan, crossed to Vladivostok, and headed out across Russia May 22.

The transmission finally gave out in Russia. Schuster tracked down one sent to him the other way around the world from Buffalo.

The German Protos auto piloted by Lt. Hans Koepen, only one of the other five cars which started, pulled into Paris five days ahead of Schuster. The Thomas was declared the winner on the basis of elapsed time.

The battered old auto looked as if it was only a step away from the junkyard, Schuster says, until Bill Harrah, Reno auto collector, bought the Flyer last summer.

Schuster came to Reno. Patchwork repairs Schuster made on the trip had been replaced and reinforced, apparently at the Thomas factory before the car was used as the pathfinder for a New York-Seattle race.

Flint Man Dies After Air Crash Which Killed Wife

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The crash of a Michigan plane in a westcentral Indiana soybean field claimed a second life Wednesday.

Robert Vernon Dryer, 47, Flint, Mich., died here of injuries suffered in the Monday night crash that killed his wife, Irene, 45, outright.

A family pet dog also was killed when the single-engine craft developed engine trouble and plunged into the field about 12 miles north of Crawfordsville.

The dryers were arriving from Flint to visit friends and relatives in the Crawfordsville area. Both were formerly of Crawfordsville.

July 4 Parade Has 30 Units

Thirty units will participate in the Manistique Fourth of July parade with the Soo Kilts among them. The Lancers Drum and Bugle Corps and the City Band will also be included in musical units.

The parade starts at 10:45 a.m., at the corner of Deer and Fifth. All Scouts of the area have been asked to attend, reporting 15 minutes before the parade starts.

Henry Tripp, commander of the American Legion, sponsor of the celebration, has asked that all veterans participate in the Fourth of July parade and activities.

A new feature this year will be ringing of bells in the community, symbolizing the nation's triumph under freedom.

Efforts were underway Thursday to have one of the community's Indian veterans, Ben Neganquam serve as parade marshal.

Road Patrols Upped For '4th'

Extra highway patrols are scheduled for the July Fourth weekend with two National Guardsmen, Sgts. Lloyd W. Carrothers and Thomas H. Barham assisting in the safety patrolling.

The patrol period begins today and continues through Sunday.

With a state highway accident picture this year containing more casualties than at the same time last year, considerable emphasis is being placed on safe driving.

LANSING (AP) — Fourth of July drivers were told today they should expect two major troop movements by the Michigan National Guard.

Some 575 guardsmen will move over state highways to Alpena Saturday. A crush of 1,350 troops will be travelling to Camp Grayling Sunday.

Air National Guardsmen moving to the Phelps Collins Base at Alpena Saturday will come from Alpena, Lansing and Battle Creek.

Guardsmen driving to Camp Grayling Sunday will include units from Detroit, Dowagiac, Niles, St. Joseph, Three Rivers, South Haven, Bay City, Alpena, Manistee, Cadillac, Marshall, Flint, Midland, Howell and Lansing.

Highway Sign Motions Filed; Case Continued

Circuit Judge George S. Baldwin Thursday took under advisement until July 15 motions of the State Highway Department for modification and judgment in injunctive proceedings regarding sign removal policies.

Arguments are scheduled July 15. Donald B. McNally and his wife, Louise, brought the injunctive proceedings.

The proceedings were held in Munising with Raymond Schmidt, Don McNally and Atty. G. S. Johnson of Manistique attending.

Judge Baldwin granted a temporary injunction June 17 to restrain the highway department from removing or threatening to remove signs in right-of-way as sufficient time for hearing on the matter had been provided. The injunction was made applicable throughout the county as well as at McNally's resort property.

Guardsmen Going To Camp July 11

Manistique National Guard Company D will move out at 5:10 a.m., July 11 to begin the annual two-weeks training at Camp Grayling.

Field exercises, proficiency tests and range firing are scheduled in the 2-week program of training in both nuclear and non-nuclear warfare techniques.

Fifteen trucks will be taken to camp by the 50 men and three officers participating from Company D.

Capt. John P. Quick, commanding officer reports the unit's training objective will be to complete and maintain training efficiency at small unit level. All training will be related to the unit's combat mission and will be carried out under conditions approximating those imposed by combat operations.

Local Guardsmen will be among 8,500 from the 46th Infantry under command of Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, division commander. Nearly 1,000 tents serve as home to the Guardsmen during the training period.

Much of the important work for a successful camp is done at home stations prior to the move. General Simmons reports. Ready individual and organization equipment at home improves the local unit's chances of earning a high camp rating. Every phase of training is evaluated at camp.

LANSING (AP) — The state sales tax take during the past fiscal year was a record $487.7 million, up from $455.6 million last year, reports State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock.

Lock said the increase reflected the general prosperity in the state.

Major department stores showed the greatest gain, both in dollars and percentagewise, he said. Auto sales showed the second highest increase followed by grocery stores and building materials.

June sales and use tax collections also hit a new high, amounting to $48.08 million, a jump of $3.8 million over the same month last year.

This was the 29th consecutive month in which sales and use tax collections showed an increase over the comparable month the previous year, Lock said.

The other four major state taxes also showed rises over the previous year, reflecting Michigan's booming prosperity, Lock said.

The fiscal year collections included:

- Use tax, $50.9 million, up from $42.5 million last year.
- Business activities tax, $90.0 million, up from $77.9 million.
- Cigarette tax, $70.3 million, up from $68.6 million.
- Intangibles tax, $34.7 million, up from $33.8 million.

Lock said all the cigarette tax gains were made during the first six months of the year. The surgeon general's report on smoking dangers caused a drop in the last six months, but the total still was an increase over the previous year, he noted.

Council Inquires About Denial Of Station Permit

Charges of influence and coercion to prevent them from obtaining a building permit for construction of a gasoline service station in the 100 block Stephenson Ave., were made to the City Council last night by the Lawrence Pavlicks of Escanaba.

Mayor George Rusch asked City Manager George Harvey to provide the City Council with copies of the minutes of the meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals at which the application of the Pavlicks was denied, following the filing of objections.

"I understand the only alternative (of the Pavlicks) is to go to court," said Mayor Rusch. "I would just like the minutes of the Appeal Board for our own information."

"Fair Is Fair"

City Attorney John G. Erickson told the City Council that the Appeal Board is the final authority in the matter and that the Council is without jurisdiction. The only other appeal of the Pavlicks is to the courts, he said.

Mayor Rusch read from the petition filed with the Appeal Board in objection to the application by the Pavlicks. The opposition cited the dangers related to the operation of gas service stations.

"They are stating in their objections the very thing some of them are doing themselves."

Stephenson To Close School Cannery Service

The community cannery which has been operated by the Stephenson Schools for many years will not open this season.

The cannery was started in a classroom of Stephenson High School in 1943. In 1947 new facilities were provided in the vocational building. Approximately 40,000 cans of food were processed each year to 1955 when the operation began to decline. Last year only 10,275 cans of food were processed.

The cannery had to be closed because of the increase in the cost of the cans and the other operating costs.

A questionnaire mailed to 84 patrons who used the canning facilities was answered by 35 indicating that about 6,300 cans of food might be processed and canned this year.

Argentine Youth Is Happy Guest On Delta Farm

By MRS. ALBERT WELDMUM

ROCK — A lot of international understanding has been gained by having Roberto (Bob) Eddy of San Martin de Los Andes, Argentina, live with the Elmer Lepisto family in Rock for the past three weeks.

The folks of Rock have taken a liking to the slim Argentine, with the sparkle in his eye and his quick sense of humor. On the other hand, Bob says the people of Rock have been very friendly. The country and climate are very much the same as back home, except it doesn't get quite as hot there as it has been here for the past week, he said.

Bob is an IFYE (International Farm Youth Exchange), 26 years old of English, Spanish and Irish descent. He speaks English more fluently than we do, but with a bit of English accent, which he gets from his father.

He speaks Spanish, official language of Argentina. He also can converse in Dutch, having learned it while crossing to Holland by working on a Dutch freighter. He spent six months in Holland learning the raising of tulips and other bulbs. Right now he is in the process of learning some of the Finnish language. He has also discovered that the Finnish flag is blue and white like his Argentine flag.

San Martin de Los Andes is close to the border of Chile, about 42 degrees south latitude, which is the same as the Upper Peninsula north latitude.

Bob left his home in the fall, latter part of April, and he arrived here in the spring. He just received a letter from home which informs him that they are having a more severe winter than usual and very much snow.

Argentina has much in common with the States, having been settled by Europeans. In fact, Bob says the people on the street here look so much like at home that he expects them to speak Spanish. In his part of the country there are many Swedes, Germans, Swiss, some Finns and people from northern Europe. Many people have the impression that Spaniards are dark skinned. Actually their women are known for their fair skin, he said.

The government is patterned after that of the States, except their president is elected for a term of six years. The president and vice president must be Roman Catholics, Roberto said. Argentina is subdivided into 20 provinces, each electing a governor for a term of four years. Men and women both can vote at the age of 18.

Gasoline costs about 65 cents a gallon. Cars cost about twice as much as here. People use bicycles a lot as means of transportation.

Their money fluctuates quite a lot. As of now, one peso is a little less than one cent. A teacher receives about $2,000 a year, a skilled laborer about $60 a month and a common laborer about $30 a month plus housing. Yet their food prices compare about the same as ours. They have no welfare, many people are unemployed and beg for work. On the other hand, there are some who are quite well to do, Roberto reported.

Bob, who recently purchased an eight acre farm in the mountains, plans on making a living raising tulips which he hopes to sell to the tourists. Many Americans come there for fishing, Germans and Austrians come for deer hunting. He plans to be married when he returns to Argentina.

Bob was rather impressed that most of our meetings are well conducted and organized and that they always begin with a flag pledge. He finds labor very well organized, yet the dairy farmer is the least organized. He is amazed at the tremendous amount of equipment and investment each farmer has in his farm.

Bob's stay in Delta County is being sponsored by the Escanaba Kiwanis Club. This means they furnish him with a dollar a day pocket money. He does not receive any other pay while in the States. His host family does not receive any other reimbursement except the joy of having an IFYE in their home.

Any family wishing to be a host family, may contact Larry Bradford for a host family application.

Escanaba Offices In Government Phone Hookup

DETROIT (AP)—Federal employees in nine Michigan cities will be able to telephone other U. S. government workers at less cost after their agencies join a nationwide government hookup Monday.

The cities are Lansing, Muskegon, Saginaw, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Escanaba, Flint, Jackson and Kalamazoo.

Twenty Detroit agencies are already in the Federal Telecommunications System — expected to be the world's largest privately leased telephone system by 1965.

Grand Rapids is scheduled for a hookup by November. Eventually the system will link 8,000 civilian agencies of the federal government in 1,750 cities.

Beach Patronage Reaches 1200

"With the hot and sunny weather we've been having, attendance at the Escanaba bathing beach has been very good," said Francis Lueneburg, beach director for 18 years.

"We have 900 to 1,100 persons using the beach every day and average 600 to 700 here at one time. Last week, Thursday when it was so hot, we estimated the attendance at 1,200 persons at once here that afternoon, the most at any one time so far this year."

Lessons Monday

Swimming lessons for the Escanaba area children will start Monday, July 6, at 10 a.m. and will continue each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon through the summer.

Lessons for the outlying areas, Ford River, Bark River, and Wells townships will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Children are to bring their suits and towels and be ready to start as soon as the organization of classes is completed Monday morning, Lueneburg said.

All children 7 and older are welcome to attend lessons and those in the townships will be taken by bus to the beach.

Buses and lessons will be free. The program is under Red Cross and City Recreation Department sponsorship.

Lueneburg will be in charge of the beginners boys class and Sue Snyder, three years at the Escanaba beach will conduct girls beginning classes. Pete Forgetto, in his first year at the local beach, will conduct classes for the intermediate and advanced swimmers. They will be assisted by Ricky Swank, assistant beach director who has been at the beach for nine years, and John Fisher in his third year. All courses are four to six weeks long.

Guards On Duty

"During regular swimming hours there are six life guards on duty at all times. Guards at the beach are Bob Anderson in his third year and Dave Vardigan in his first. These are assisted by the instructors who alternate," said Lueneburg. Every seventh day all seven guards are on duty.

"All children not accompanied by adults must be out of the water between the hours of 12 noon and 1 p.m. and 5 and 6 p.m. This is because one of our life guards goes home for lunch, so that's just one less to watch the children."

Beach Equipment

There is also new equipment at the local beach this year to help safeguard the youngsters. A new 12 foot aluminum row boat was acquired this spring and two more sets of oars, bringing the number of rescue boats available to four.

"We've finally gotten a new 'torpedo buoy', something I've wanted for years at the beach," Lueneburg said.

"It's shaped like a torpedo and used for long distance rescue. A guard swims out near the person in trouble, shoots the buoy over the water to him to hang onto, and then tows the person into shore with the rope attached to it. It's much quicker and safer than having a guard fight with the victim and getting them both exhausted and unable to get to shore."

Also added to the beach equipment is a new life guard tower.

Raft Beached

"Many people have been asking why we haven't put the big raft out yet. We've surveyed the entire beach area and found that we had to go out 4½ to 6 blocks before we found water deep enough to put it in. At six blocks it was only seven feet deep. There were two holes dredged for the raft a couple years ago but the first one is too close to shore now, with the low water level, and the second is filled with 4½ feet of mud," said Lueneburg. The supervised beach area has also been moved 60 yards north because of the deep pockets and low water level where it used to be."

Life Savings

The water at the beach isn't deep enough to hold the Senior life saving course at the beach. John Fisher, in charge of it assisted by Rick Swank, will have to hold it at the Municipal dock.

Lueneburg reminded parents to have their children who are at the beach stay there at all times so when they come to pick them up they can find them easily without worries.

And visitors to the beach are asked not to park in the life guard area because that is kept open for ambulance and emergency service.

Adult Classes

"I would like to initiate adult night swimming classes," said Lueneburg. "If we get enough adults interested in it we'll find an instructor for them, but we need at least four students to start it."

The water temperature averages about 70 degrees these days, just right for a dip on hot summer days and everyone is invited to enjoy the fun to be had swimming over the 4th of July weekend.

Ex-Bandman To Direct Camp

MARQUETTE — William D. Cole, director of the University of Washington Marching Band, will be the music director at the 14th annual music camp for Uruer Peninsula high school band members and baton twirlers to be held at Northern Michigan University Aug. 3-8.

Students in Grades 9 through 12 are eligible. Last year, more than 125 band members and 40 baton twirlers attended the five-day session. A former member of the Les Brown's "Band of Renown," Cole received his bachelor's degree in music education from the University of Illinois and his master's in conducting from the University of Washington.

THE WALLEYES are hitting! Terry LaValle, 14, caught this 27-inch eight-pounder off Breezy Point on Thursday, using a hook baited with worms. Later in the day he caught a six-pounder. Terry is the son of the William LaValles, proprietors of the Surf Motel. (Daily Press Photo)

Typographical Union Elects State Officers

The Michigan Federation of Typographical Unions, meeting at Jackson June 28-30, elected Earl Bond of Flint its president for the ensuing term.

John Gallagher of Kalamazoo is first vice president, Howard Johnston of Grand Rapids is second vice president, and Donald Miller of Battle Creek is secretary-treasurer.

Two delegates from Local 278 of Escanaba served on conference committees. Cliff Beaudin was a member of the committee on constitution and by-laws, and Alvin J. Kortved served on the committee on legislation.

Primary topics of discussion were apprentice training, automation, and new processes in the printing industry.
